SNBO (Southern Nevada Building Officials) has completed its review of the following construction codes and proposed local amendments to those codes:

2012 Uniform Plumbing Code®
2012 Uniform Mechanical Code®
2012 International Building Code™
2011 National Electrical Code®
2012 International Swimming Pool and Spa Code
2012 International Residential Code™
2012 International Energy Conservation Code

The amendments to the above listed codes may be accessed at <http://snbo.snicc.org/proposedamendments.php>.

In addition, the Southern Nevada Fire Code Committee that operates under the auspices of the Southern Nevada Fire Chiefs Association has completed its review of the 2012 International Fire Code™ and has developed proposed local amendments to that code. Those amendments may be viewed at <http://www.fpaneveda.org/> under the “Notices” section in the middle of that page.

The next step in the code review process is to hold industry meetings with contractors, design professionals, trade association representatives and other interested parties to receive input regarding adoption of the various codes and proposed local amendments. Accordingly, please see the SNBO 2012 Code Adoption Industry Meeting Schedule listed below. Contractors, design professionals, trade association representatives and other interested parties are strongly encouraged to attend the industry meetings and provide input to building officials and fire code officials regarding the adoption of the 2012 codes and proposed local amendments.
