Periodicals/Law Journals - Are in alphabetical order. Some items are on microfiche.

Reference - The following is a partial list of reference materials that the library currently has in the collection: American Jurisprudence (AM Jur), Corpus Juris Secundum (CJS), Words & Phrases, California Jurisprudence (Cal Jur), United States code congressional and administrative news (USCCAN), United States Code Annotated (USCA), form books (both pleading and contractual), Martindale-Hubbell, legal thesaurus, Steadman's Medical Dictionary, U.S. Law Week, Congressional Index, and Books in Print.

Online Databases - The law library subscribes to two online databases for patron usage while in the library. Westlaw and Fastcase both are accessible from the Internet computers in the library. They are free for patron usage. Please bring a photo ID to access these databases. There is no email allowed from the Internet computers.

Self-Help Materials - The library has two main different types of self-help materials. These types of materials are a good starting point for your legal research. Make sure to check the laws of your state to ensure the information contained in the books is valid in that particular state. Nutshells are a general overview on specific legal topics. Nolos are legal guides written for the general public.
