

In conjunction with the Winchester Gallery exhibit “Container Theory” artist Marlene Sui hosts a workshop Saturday October 10th from 1PM-3PM at Winchester Cultural Center (Classroom A). This artist workshop is open to the public and recommended for ages 8 and up of all skill levels.

The workshop will explore concepts and methods of Marlene’s studio practice, such as: Polymer Lifts, Collage, Sculpture, Self-Portraiture and Drawing. All materials for the workshop are provided, but participants are also encouraged to bring old books, recycled magazines, or individual drawings.

Don’t miss this opportunity to explore contemporary art making!

“Containers are objects that we are all familiar with. We use them daily to organize everything from our most common to our most precious objects. For myself, I not only use containers to organize things in my daily life, but I also build containers to organize ideas, memories, people and places.

Throughout my artistic practice, I have always been interested in combining the mediums of photography and sculpture. Through this workshop, I would like participants to explore image making as a 3-dimensional medium. My hope is that traditional concepts of photography and sculpture will be challenged with the end result that participants create a 3-dimensional image that represents them.”
