SILVERADO RANCH COMMUNITY CENTER RECEIVES DESIGN APPROVAL

The Silverado Ranch Community Center received design approvals at the October Board of County Commissioners Meeting. The Silverado Ranch Community Center will be Clark County's newest community center. It will be located at Silverado Ranch Boulevard and Gilespie Street.

The 38,000 square-foot center will feature an amphitheater, indoor track, basketball court, and more. It will be Clark County's first recreation facility with an indoor track and full-sized demonstration kitchen for cooking classes and events.

"Amenities like this one are too few, especially in unincorporated Clark County and particularly in Enterprise. That is why we chose to utilize District A's bond-funded park dollars to bring this tremendous public facility to this Township," said Commissioner Naft.

ALL AROUND A

Commissioner Naft helped welcome the return of the National Business Aviation Association. The National Business Aviation Association host a convention that helps drive economic activity, contributing greatly to our local economy.

“The event is proof that we can grow the economy at the same time we are taking new steps to reduce our environmental impact, just as we recognized in our Sustainability and Climate Action Plan adopted earlier this year. We appreciate NBAA’s leadership in this area and look forward to welcoming the convention back here for many years to come,” said Commissioner Naft.

Commissioner Naft also joined One APIA Nevada, the League of Conservation Voters, the Nevada Conservation League, Mi Familia Vota, Native Voters Alliance, and local volunteers at Silverado Ranch Park for a Pokémon Go themed community cleanup. He also attended a Career day at John Bass Elementary School, where students got a chance to learn about some of Clark County’s departments and agencies as well as many other careers and vocational opportunities that will be available in their future.

COMMISSIONER NAFT GIVES SPECIAL RECOGNITION TO LOCAL EDUCATORS DURING NATIONAL YEARBOOK WEEK

Commissioner Naft recognized his former teacher and yearbook advisor, Carol Medcalf, along with yearbook publisher, Judy Allen, on the occasion of National Yearbook Week. Commissioner Naft attended the Las Vegas Academy of the Arts and was the editor and chief of his yearbook. "I was lucky to be one of Mrs. Medcalf's thousands of students whose life was changed for the better because of her. She's creative, has an incomparable work ethic, and infectious energy."

COMMISSIONERS MOVE FORWARD ON THE OFFICE OF TRAFFIC SAFETY FOR CLARK COUNTY

Commissioner Naft and his colleagues unanimously moved toward creating a county-run Office of Traffic Safety during the October Board of County Commissioners meeting. The Office of Traffic Safety would establish a director to work with other county departments and outside agencies to help protect the public.

The Office of Traffic Safety will be dedicated to looking for grants and innovative technology to make roads safer for both pedestrians and drivers in Clark County. The team will also help connect the dots between planning and enforcement to address the speeding issues in Southern Nevada.

"Clark County has some of the widest, longest, fastest roads out there, and we know speed kills at 45 mph, you're much more likely to be killed, more likely to be a fatality, and we have so many roads in our community that have that great speed," said Commissioner Naft.

NOVEMBER COFFEE AND CONVERSATION AT SCOOTERS

Commissioner Naft will host his next Coffee & Conversation Saturday, Nov. 20 at Scooter's Coffee located at 6585 S. Decatur Blvd from 10:00 a.m to 11:00 a.m. Commissioner Naft will meet with residents to listen to their concerns, and discuss how Clark County can better serve its residents.

WEST FLAMINGO SENIOR CENTER TO HOST "TURKEY HUNT"

The West Flamingo Senior Center, Spring Valley Area Command, and Tabernacle of Praise will be hosting a Turkey Hunt on Nov. 18 from 10:30 a.m until 12:30 p.m at 6255 W. Flamingo Rd.
