RTC offers free and safe transit rides this New Year’s Eve Riders should plan for holiday transit schedules and traffic detours

LAS VEGAS – The Regional Transportation Commission of Southern Nevada (RTC) is again offering free rides on all transit routes on New Year’s Eve to ensure a safe travel option for locals and visitors celebrating the holiday. From 6 p.m. on New Year’s Eve until 9 a.m. on New Year’s Day, transit riders can board any vehicle on the RTC’s 39 bus routes without purchasing a pass or presenting fare.

The free rides include the Deuce on the Strip, as well as other major streets with direct access to and from the Strip. Transit service to both the Strip and downtown Las Vegas is available from the South Strip Transit Terminal (6675 S. Gillespie St.) via the Deuce and Route 109 Maryland Parkway.

SERVICE DETAILS:

The RTC is a convenient and safe way to travel with 13 RTC routes that regularly run 24/7, as well as extended service hours on several other routes.

Riders are advised to plan for significant transit detours on New Year’s Eve using the rideRTC transit app, which provides real-time information about bus locations and arrival times. For complete detour and route details, visit rctsnv.com/newyears.

Additionally, the RTC transit system will operate on a Sunday schedule for transit service valley-wide on Christmas Day, Monday, Dec. 25, and on New Year’s Day, Monday, Jan. 1.

The Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department reminds everyone celebrating New Year’s Eve that strollers, backpacks, glass bottles, and bags larger than a standard grocery bag are not allowed on the Las Vegas Strip. Read more online about the prohibited items on New Year’s Eve.
