Buddy Bench Installed at Indian Springs School

As students returned to Indian Springs School last month, they noticed a new fixture had been added to the campus. The bright blue seat is a Buddy Bench. In 2013, a First Grader named Christian at Roundtown Elementary School in Pennsylvania came up with the idea of a place where students could go during recess if they were feeling lonely and needed a friend. Since then, the concept has grown and Buddy Benches in all colors, shapes, and sizes have been placed in school playgrounds around the world. At Indian Springs School, Heaven Martin was the first student to be "Caught Being Kind" this school year. She saw a younger child sitting on the new Buddy Bench and walked over and invited her to play. Congratulations, Heaven, for doing your part to "eliminate loneliness and foster friendship."

National Forest Volunteers Receive Awards

Several Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest individual and group volunteers were recently honored by the U.S. Forest Service Intermountain Regional Office, Region 4 and two of the award recipients are from right here in Southern Nevada.

Enduring Service Volunteers & Service Award Recipient: For the past six years, Bob Grozenski has volunteered over 300 hours for the Spring Mountains National Recreation Area. As a trail host with the "Go Mt Charleston" Volunteer Program, he hikes various trails across the National Recreation Area, contacting visitors and providing information on outdoor etiquette and "Leave No Trace" principles. He picks up trash, performs light trail maintenance, and renders first aid assistance when necessary. Additionally, Grozenski staffs the Spring Mountains Visitor Gateway and assists with educational programs and guided hikes.

Citizen Stewardship & Partnerships Volunteers & Service Award Recipient: The Bristlecone Chapter of Back Country Horsemen of Nevada have supported numerous projects in the Spring Mountains, including rebuilding the south loop of the National Recreation Trail in the Mt. Charleston Wilderness Area which was destroyed by the Carpenter 1 Fire. Over a six month period of time, Back Country Horsemen volunteers provided the stock needed to carry equipment and supplies on thirteen different trips. Because most of the trail is in a wilderness area, which limits and/or prohibits motorized vehicles, the efforts of this organization were critical and enabled an early completion of the trail restoration while maintaining the wilderness character of the area.

27th Annual FARM FALL HARVEST FESTIVAL

Join us for our Annual FARM FALL HARVEST FESTIVAL. The festival activities will include antique tractor hay wagon rides, cow train for toddlers, pony rides and more. Visitors will find a large selection of specialty pumpkins and squash, along with artisanal breads, jams and jellies, local honey and our local farm-fresh eggs.

Our selection of pumpkins and squash is arguably the best in the entire Valley. At least a dozen of otherwise hard-to-find varieties – from minuscule to massive sizes – are available for decorating, carving and baking. We will have tons and tons of pumpkins and squash for our festival this year! You won't be able to find pumpkins like these anywhere else in or around Las Vegas. We take a lot of care in selecting the sizes, varieties and looks of the pumpkins that we offer, so they really are unique! Come check them out!

Sandy Valley Residents Are Rockin' Around The Town

Toward the end of July, a Sandy Valley resident named Barbara Adams started a Facebook group all about the rocks she paints with her grandchildren and then hides. She got the idea on a family trip to Walnut Hills Campground in Durand, Michigan. There, a neighboring camper invited the grandkids to come paint rocks that would be hidden in various places for people to find. Barbara brought back the idea (and the rocks that she had found) and started painting and hiding rocks at parks and other public places here at home. She shares photos of the rocks she has painted, painting ideas, and her "rocking" adventures. Many other community members have gotten involved in the fun, too. But, the really fun part is seeing the stories from people around the area (and around the country) who have found the rocks. A sticker is placed on the backs of the rocks that tells people that they can keep the rock or re-hide it. The sticker also asks them to post a picture of the rock they found on the group's Facebook page. For some, finding a rock brings a smile to their face and a little happiness to their day. To others, it is much more meaningful. Some rocks are painted with inspirational words and finders have mentioned that the message was just what they needed that day. The stories and photos shared on the Facebook page show that these rocks are making their way all around the world. Jasmine, a visitor from Southern California, found a rock at the 7 Magic Mountains. Emma found a rock in Las Vegas painted blue with fireworks and USA on it and posted that she is taking it to Sweden with her. Possibly the best story is from Leigh Ann, a truck driver from Florida. She found a rock painted like a cat at the gas station in Jean. She says that she really wants a cat, but cannot have one since her job keeps her away from home – so finding the rock was really special to her. She posted that she is going to carry the rock with her as she travels the country and will hide it again somewhere on the East Coast. So, while you are out on your daily travels around Clark County, keep an eye out – you may just be lucky enough to find your own special rock.

Moapa Valley Teen Wins Rodeo Princess Title in Utah

Logandale youth, Graceann Erickson, daughter of Randy and Stacy Erickson, was crowned Great American Stampede Rodeo Princess earlier this month in Cedar City, Utah. For this title she was awarded a crown, sash, and a new saddle.

Graceann will have the honor of representing the Great American Stampede Rodeo Princess title at the Southern Utah University Rodeo on September 8 –9. There she will help the kids with mutton busting, push roping stock to the end of the arena, and of course ride around the arena with a big smile and wave at the beginning of the rodeo. She will also attend rodeos in Iron County, Gunlock, Enterprise, and Parowan throughout the course of her reining year. She will also participate in a number of parades and visit with the crowds.

Erickson competed against 2 other girls for the Princess title and did very well, winning the modeling, speech, interview with the judges, and impromptu categories. Graceann explained that the impromptu allows the contestant's personality to show through. On stage, each contestant is asked two questions that she must answer off the top of her head.

Graceann moved here with her family about two years ago from Las Vegas and enjoys participating in reining shows and barrel racing at the local gymkhanas.

Moapa Valley Performing Arts Council

Moapa Valley Performing Arts Council is a non-profit community organization whose purpose is to foster the awareness, understanding and appreciation of a broad spectrum of the performing arts among all the people of Moapa Valley. They began their 2017–2018 season with the Moapa Valley Talent Showcase at the Ron Dalley Theatre at Moapa Valley High School on August 28th.

The season continues on September 25th with a performance by FOG: Fat Old Guys Entertainment, an a cappella quartet that brings a comedic take on classic rock from the likes of Aerosmith and Three Dog Nightdrum sets, guitar licks, and all-with humanity's very first instrument: the human voice. They have shared the stage with Grammy award winning performers and played to packed stadiums, but FOG's favorite place to perform is to Small-Town USA. 7:00 p.m. in the Ron Dalley Theatre at MVHS. Tickets are $10 for adults, $8 for senior citizens and students, and $30 for a family pass.

International Talk Like A Pirate Day – September 19, 2017

In 1995, a couple of guys from Albany, Oregon named John and Mark (aka Cap'n Slappy and Ol'Chumbucket) were playing racquetball at their local YMCA. They began insulting each other in pirate speak and the idea of a holiday began. September 19, 2002 was officially the first year that Talk Like A Pirate Day was celebrated. After being interviewed in Australia, Ireland, and other far flung locations, the guys decided that it had reached the level of an international holiday. There aren't a lot of rules to celebrating the day, just throw some piratical terms into your speech, like "Shiver Me Timbers" and "Arrgh" and periodically threaten to make someone "Walk the Plank" and you are set! To learn more (and have a few laughs) check out their website:

Laughlin Water Resource Center Wins Gold For 4th Year

Congratulations to the Clean Water Team at the Laughlin Water Resource Center! For the 4th consecutive year, they received the Gold award at the National Association of Clean Water Agencies (NACWA) Peak Performance Awards. The program recognizes NACWA-member agency facilities for excellence in wastewater treatment as measured by their compliance with their National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permits. The Team achieved 100% compliance for the entire calendar year making them one of only 158 treatment facilities in the entire country to have that stellar record. The Laughlin Water Resource Center began operations in 1985. Nearly 2 million gallons of wastewater is collected each dav utilizing more than 35 miles of pipeline and the highly treated reclaimed water is then returned to the Colorado River.
